

Public Health Network Cymru

Protecting health and wellbeing in the climate crisis: local climate risk assessments

Tuesday 21 November 2023

Time	Activity	Speaker
09:30	Welcome by the Chair	Rebecca Masters, Consultant in Public Health, Strategic Lead on Climate Change, Public Health Wales
09:40	Climate Change in Wales: Health Impact Assessment What does climate change mean for different population groups and communities in Wales?	Nerys Edmonds: Principal Health Impact Assessment Development Officer, Public Health Wales
10:00	Sharing learning from local climate adaptation work in Wales	Dr. Alan Netherwood Netherwood Sustainable Futures. Honorary Research Fellow, School of Geography & Planning, Cardiff University.
10:20	Involvement: Learning from the Communities and Climate Change in a Future Wales project	Sara Elias, Senior Policy Officer Public Health Wales
10:30	Draft Local Climate Risk Assessment Framework	Holly Butterworth, Lead Specialist Advisor - Sustainable Management of Natural Resources, Natural Resources Wales
10:50	BREAK
11:00	Q&A
11:15	Involvement: a local perspective on climate adaptation - learning from the Health Impact Assessment with the community of Fairbourne, Gwynedd.	Meilys Smith Supporting Health and Wellbeing Senior Manager, Gwynedd County Council
11:30	Breakout groups activity 1: Climate risk analysis activity	Facilitated Groups
11:50	Breakout groups activity 2: What support and engagement is needed for local climate risk assessments?	Facilitated Groups
12:10	Feedback from groups
12:25	Closing Words
12:30	Evaluation and Close	